

FIONN O LOCHLAINN

Overcast (Helicopter)

It's overcast, overcast again
And love is lost, love has blown away

Hello, I know it's you again
Hello I know that old familiar face

Makes me want to see the doctor
Makes me want to take a pill
Where is my yellow helicopter
Satisfy my every will

And the voices shout, the voices in my head
Screaming out, but the words cannot be said

You come, you go, it's all the same Hello, all show, no need to know your name

Makes me want to see a doctor
Makes me want to take a pill
Where's my yellow helicopter
Satisfy my every will

And life on the battlefield spinning out from all the doubt and fear Life with your shields up high, blocking out the clear blue sky with tears

Makes me want to see a doctor
Makes me want to take a pill
Where is my yellow helicopter
Satisfy my every will

And I'd climb the highest mountain
Brave the darkest hour of the night
For the truth I'd be your lantern
For the truth I'd be your liar
